Consumer Ed

34 5 7

Chapter 1 by Reid Meredith

It all started on a boring school day in Consumer Ed, the time was 12:35.

Chapter 2 by Mikey

Looking towards Mr. Spencer i realized that i hadn't been listening. Looking all around it didn't look like anyone else had been either. Even the people in the front row were browsing the internet and playing games. Still he wasn't discouraged by what happened. The ever determined teacher decided that he would keep going. They paid him either way so he cared little. So he prattled on about monopolies and how unfair some kind of glasses are priced. God forbid he ever stop. Or something happen.

Chapter 3 by intellikat

Suddenly, Mr. Spencer's eyes glazed over and he stopped speaking. From his chest burst something disgusting and fleshy-- so hideous I pause in remembering it now-- it burst from his chest and dropped him like a sack of cat litter to the classroom floor. We all screamed... even Tony Rogaine, the captain of the wrastling team. And wasn't afraid of anything. Not even when he had his left scrotum removed because of cancer in his sophomore year.

Meanwhile, the fleshy thing will See more of Story Wars

Chapter 4 by intellikat

JOHN CENA

John Cena leapt through the window and planted his leather wrastling boots firmly on the linoleum floor. There was a collective dropping of pencils with a clatter followed my abused stares. But John Cena had a purpose. He strode directly to the downed body of Mr. Spencer, and with a mighty holla, leg-dropped the thing writhing and pulsing on the floor.
